CSHL thanks the Montis

A growing partnership between CSHL and the Don Monti Memorial Research Foundation has been significantly strengthened. The Foundation has donated $500,000 to CSHL's cancer genetics research program. "Our relationship with Caroline Monti Saladino and the Foundation has provided us with access to critical technologies that allow CSHL to remain at the leading edge of cancer research," says Professor Scott Lowe, Ph.D., who directs the Tita Monti Cancer Research Laboratory at CSHL. In the picture (l-r): Edward Travagianti, CSHL Trustee; President Stillman; Dr. Lowe; Caroline Monti Saladino; Richard Monti; Anna Travaglia; Arthur Saladino.

Sass Fellowship in Cancer Research

Martin D. Sass, chairman and Co-Founder of the Sass Foundation, with CSHL's Shilpi Paul, Ph.D., Sass Foundation Postdoctoral Fellow in Cancer Research. Paul, who will receive $75,000 in 2009, is studying the tumor-suppressor gene CHD5, discovered by her mentor, Assoc. Prof. Alea Mills, Ph.D., in 2007. Paul received her doctorate from Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences in Bethesda.

CSHL Association

CSHL Association comprises some 1,000 neighbors and friends of the Laboratory who contribute to the Annual Fund, an essential source of unrestricted support for outstanding young scientists. Association members get to know CSHL scientists at lectures, concerts, dinners and other social events that support the Laboratory. Membership levels start at $100 per year. For more information please contact Diane Fagiola, Director of Development, at 516.367.8471 or fagiola@cshl.edu.
